

NADA and Sadaaqah dancers present Workshops with Kay Taylor
plus an Evening with the Baladi Blues Ensemble.

www.nada.uk.com

Saturday, 04 February 2012

First floor of Doncaster Catholic Club, Waterdale, Doncaster, DN1 3BY

The Baladi Blues Ensemble plays the urban Egyptian dance music known as Baladi. Skilful accordion and saxophone improvisations, energised by powerful Egyptian rhythms give the Baladi Blues Ensemble its distinctive sound. Their music reflects the sophisticated and fastpaced, urban lifestyle of 1950's Cairo – all offered with a charming and enigmatic stage presence.

* SATURDAY ****

Community Workshops

12.30 - 1.30 with Jacky Oruc. - 'Belly dance for beginners with 5 easy moves' - Learn 5 belly dance moves to take away with you and put them all together to some fun uplifting music. Just £2.

1.45 - 2.45 with Trisha Champion - 'Belly dance with Veils' - Borrow some of our lovely veils and learn ways to use and dance with them to some beautiful inspiring music. Just £2.

12.30-3.00 Free - Relax and watch a video/presentation of the where belly dance came from, how the dance and perceptions of it have changed, the musical instruments and rhythms that give belly dance music that unique sound and how it is danced to now by different cultures. Chat to the Sadaaqah dancers and NADA members on site about any aspect of belly dance and how you can find out more.

Dancers Workshop

3.00-5.00 Dancers Workshop with Kay Taylor and Baladi Blues Band: "The Joy of Working with Live Music....." Kay explores the sheer exhilaration of working with live music. We all tend to be terrified as we don't get access to it but it really is a wonderful experience. A fantastic introduction to dancing with live music. £10 or £5 with your NADA voucher.

Hafla

8pm hafla (doors open 7.30) with the amazing sounds of the Baladi Blues Ensemble, performances to the live music by Kay Taylor and guests and lots of time for everyone to dance to the band. Souk. Tickets just £5!

* SUNDAY ****

Masterclass with Kay Taylor

10.00 – 12.00 "Developing Your Own Style" - A fantastic opportunity for more experienced dancers which will involve individual work and feedback from Kay. Kay helps you find your stronger areas and explores how to make the most of them. Working from breathing and basics, building your own character and style. Strictly very limited numbers to allow for the individual work. £25. Please note this workshop will be held at Westwoodside Village Hall, Nethergate, North Lincolnshire.
